Code of Good Conduct for: Mountaineering

Club members shall follow club policies and guidelines whilst participating in all activities with the Club. Club members shall not put other Club members at undue risk and all Club members should endeavour to work together to minimise risk.

The Club aims to promote self-sufficiency and good mountain sense amongst its members. Members should take responsibility for all their actions.

The Mountaineering Club aims to treat the mountain environment with respect and to minimise the negative impact on the environment wherever possible.

Whilst participating in all potentially dangerous activities when operating within the Club parameters, all participants shall not be under the influence of alcohol or drugs and be in a correct state of mind and body to participate in the activity as safely as is possible.

We the undersigned agree to uphold the above code of good practise
